What words of wit are sharpened by bright wit.
What dormant fancies love to quicken.
Friends, I thought this week to gladden your hearts by announcing my matrimonial fastenings, but fate sayeth no—One week ago there came before me a Cinderella at whose feet I dropped instantly. She seemed with astonishment until I had explained the seriousness of my motives, after which "all went merry as a marriage bell" until she knocked my ardent affections plumb to hell. Here's how: visiting a well known cafe and ordering every viand that the bill enumerated, it struck me from her darkened phiz. When I asked her to marry me, she slipped and scooped the delicious to mouth with the knife, that something was wrong, but never dreaming myself to be the cause, I chomped away. "Mr. Ford," she finally muttered, "your knife is not a shovel, neither is your shirt sleeve a kerchief, and excuse me, but cannot you raise that finger and eat with a fork like this?" Friends, I tried it, still adorned in the finger muscles, took our Saviour's name in vain, saw a vanishing form pass from my gaze, and falling back in my chair, the thought of more viand epithets in one moment than would fill three volumes of fiction. I see that the moon this week is nearer the earth than it has been for a year, and in "Apogee" which still adorns my unlovely star had been smothered, but alas—alas—alas. What, even an eclipse cannot break this hoodoo charm. A colored damsel offered the Thursday for my "pet" suit, which still adorns the window. I scorned the offer then, as I truly believed that bird would soon prove as useful as it now is ornamental—would that I had grasped from the lady's hand the lucky tendered. Well, ta-ta, Honey, I'll try another.

Now friends, I entreat you as "I'm skinned, tanned and dried," as above related, come to my rescue—I've got a raft of new things.

Have 2 elegant pianos, purchased before the raise. They sell here at $40 and $30. My price $25 and $18.
Just bought 2, 4-hole and 2 6-hole ranges. They are practically new.
